

LOW BRASS BOOT CAMP

Led by

Michael Becker

Principal Trombone, Tucson Symphony Orchestra

Assisted by

Mark Fry

Bass Trombone, Elgin Symphony Orchestra and Chicago Free-lance artist

June 2-7, 2009

Tucson Symphony Center, Tucson, Arizona

This intensive workshop is dedicated to:

- ✚ Audition and performance preparation
- ✚ Fundamentals
- ✚ Orchestral style
- ✚ Solo preparation and study

Daily classes will include:

- ✚ Master classes
- ✚ Section coaching
- ✚ Mock auditions

“For any student who is serious about orchestral training, Becker’s Low Brass Boot Camp is a great opportunity. His extensive knowledge of auditions and experience as a performer would be a great asset to any student and young professional.”

- Jay Friedman, Principal Trombone, Chicago Symphony Orchestra

“This is a great opportunity to deal with the specifics of the audition environment. Many fine musicians fail to excel in this most artificial performance setting. It is a unique challenge and warrants a specialized workshop such as Michael Becker’s Low Brass Boot Camp. I would recommend it highly.”

-Michael Mulcahy, Second Trombone, Chicago Symphony Orchestra

*Fee for this workshop is $600

Sign up at www.beckbone.com

*Scholarships available for limited number of eligible students